DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 1774

4. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese Patent Abstract JP2127596 (the abstract) in view of Glasser et al, 5,900,479 (Glasser).

The abstract teaches a support based on fibers covered with a chitosan based layer. The layer is obtained from an aqueous based solution and deposited in an amount of 0.5 to 30 g/m², as required by claims 1-2, 8 and 10-11. In addition, the layer forms a continuous film, per claim 3 and has a concentration of 1 to 20 wt%, per claim 5. The abstract does not teach the presence of citric acid or the specific molar mass of chitosan. Glasser teaches a chitosan composition of the type contemplated by applicants that can be used as a coating. See abstract, column 4, and lines 9-15. It would have been obvious the one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the teachings of the abstract by using as the chitosan coating as coating as taught by Glasser with the reasonable expectation of success of producing a paper with high wet strength. As to claims 9 and 13, the modification of the composition by adding wax would have been an obvious expedient to the skilled artisan to enhance release properties of the paper.

Therefore, the combined teachings of the abstract and Glasser would have rendered obvious the invention as claimed in present claims 1-13.

No claims are allowed.
